

I am writing to register my concerns about you pre-empting, in any way, that State of Indiana's telephone privacy law. This law has meant a great deal to my family, and I do not want it weakened in any way, just in order to nationalize the issue. At one time I was receiving up to four phone calls an evening. Now, I may get one a week, and as soon as I tell them I am on the "list" they apologize profusely and I don't hear from them again. As most people these days do, I work and so does my husband, we therefore spend an average of 3 hours "awake" time a day together - I don't want to talk to telemarketers, and I am concerned that your law will allow more of those irritating individuals to invade my privacy. Let the State of Indiana handle its own privacy laws - it works for its citizens.
